“I never thought about my health, until
I started losing it.”

I avoided going to the doctor for regular screenings, until a lump made my health impossible to ignore. Now I go every year for a PAP smear, mammogram, and general check-up. It doesn't take much time, and this way, I can feel better that my health and my life don't just slip away.

Regular check-ups are key to maintaining good health and catching early any problems that could crop up. See your doctor at least once a year.
